Voters in the 9th Congressional District have a unique opportunity to send an experienced, committed women's rights leader to the Democratic National Convention.

MARY BRANDON is running as a Mondale delegate in the Illinois Democratic Primary, March 20.

- She's running because women can make the difference next November.
- She's running because Walter Mondale, with an outstanding record on women's issues, is the Democratic candidate who can best mobilize the gender gap.
- She's running because she is committed to organizing the women's vote to defeat Ronald Reagan.

MARY BRANDON knows the issues . . .

. . . and she knows what needs to be done.

- As President of the Chicago Chapter of the National Organization for Women, MARY BRANDON heads a 4,000-member grassroots organization which has led the fight against sex discrimination — the fight for the Equal Rights Amendment, for reproductive choice, for equal employment opportunity, for economic policies which meet human needs.
- As a field representative for the Illinois Nurses' Association, MARY BRANDON has fought for pay equity for working women, and for high quality, cost-effective health care for all.
- As a former organizer in the Illinois ERA Countdown Campaign and as a veteran of independent political campaigns in the 9th Congressional District, MARY BRANDON has the experience and the skills to be a strong voice for concerned Democratic voters at the Democratic National Convention.
